

FALKE Sensitive London are pleasantly soft on the skin thanks to the high cotton content.

Not only are they particularly skin-flattering, but also sustainable: they consist almost entirely of FALKE - WE CARE - COTTON, a resource-saving and socially responsible cotton, supplemented by a small proportion of recycled functional yarns for more elasticity and a high level of material durability.

The particularly soft sensitive cuffs, in combination with very flat seams and the anatomical FALKE fit, ensure a perfect fit without constriction. Thus, the FALKE Sensitive London are also suitable for particularly pressure-sensitive legs and diabetics.
